DGF Advances Its 2027–2030 Strategic Development Plan at Boulay Island Seminar

From 19 to 21 November 2026, the Directorate General of Financing (DGF) brought its teams together on Boulay Island to advance work on its 2027–2030 Strategic Development Plan. Building on work that began in July, the seminar translated the DGF's strategic priorities into concrete proposals to improve the government's financing terms and strengthen public debt management.

The eight thematic committees presented their proposed performance indicators and discussed with participants how to use them in each directorate. One option explored was to extend the maturities of domestic borrowing to reduce short-term refinancing needs. Discussions also covered ways to diversify the investor base and improve the monitoring of externally financed projects.

The review identified improvements to the DGF's quality management system as part of its preparations for ISO 9001 certification, which it aims to obtain in 2027.

The proposals selected during the seminar will be incorporated into the draft Strategic Development Plan, which will be submitted to the Director General for adoption. Once adopted, the plan will be implemented through annual measures with deadlines and indicators to track progress. This will allow the DGF to improve its performance, measure progress and adjust its actions over time, supporting Côte d'Ivoire's goal of attaining investment-grade status by 2030.
